

Someone mistakenly put you in the trash can instead of the recycling where you really belong. The trash truck picks you up and takes you to the landfill.

Go to the landfill.

Someone mistakenly put you in the trash can instead of the recycling where you really belong. The trash truck picks you up and takes you to the landfill.

Go to the landfill.

Someone mistakenly put you in the trash can instead of the recycling where you really belong. The trash truck picks you up and takes you to the landfill.

Go to the landfill.

Someone mistakenly put you in the trash can instead of the recycling where you really belong. The trash truck picks you up and takes you to the landfill.

Go to the landfill.

You and other recyclables have filled up a recycling bin and have been placed at the curb for collection by a recycling truck. The truck empties the recycling bin and brings you to a Material Recovery Facility, or MRF.

Go to the MRF.

You and other recyclables have filled up a recycling bin and have been placed at the curb for collection by a recycling truck. The truck empties the recycling bin and brings you to a Material Recovery Facility, or MRF.

Go to the MRF.

You and other recyclables have filled up a recycling bin and have been placed at the curb for collection by a recycling truck. The truck empties the recycling bin and brings you to a Material Recovery Facility, or MRF.

Go to the MRF.

You and other recyclables have filled up a recycling bin and have been placed at the curb for collection by a recycling truck. The truck empties the recycling bin and brings you to a Material Recovery Facility, or MRF.

Go to the MRF.

Landfills are where waste is buried. Thousands of years have gone by since you were put in the landfill by someone who chose not to recycle you. Sorry, there's no way out!

Stay at the landfill.

Landfills are where waste is buried. Thousands of years have gone by since you were put in the landfill by someone who chose not to recycle you. Sorry, there's no way out!

Stay at the landfill.

Landfills are where waste is buried. Thousands of years have gone by since you were put in the landfill by someone who chose not to recycle you. Sorry, there's no way out!

Stay at the landfill.

Landfills are where waste is buried. Luckily a bird flew by the landfill and picked you up, thinking you were food. Realizing its mistake, the bird dropped you into the nearest recycling bin.

Go to the recycling bin.

Machines and workers sorted you out along with many other recyclables. You've been squished into a block with others like you, called a bale, and sold to a manufacturer to make new products.

Go to the factory.

Machines and workers sorted you out along with many other recyclables. You've been squished into a block with others like you, called a bale, and sold to a manufacturer to make new products.

Go to the factory.

Machines and workers sorted you out along with many other recyclables. You've been squished into a block with others like you, called a bale, and sold to a manufacturer to make new products.

Go to the factory.

Machines and workers sorted you out along with many other recyclables. You've been squished into a block with others like you, called a bale, and sold to a manufacturer to make new products.

Go to the factory.

You have been shredded up into little pieces and reformed into a new product using heat, water, air, or other methods.

Go to the store.

You have been shredded up into little pieces and reformed into a new product using heat, water, air, or other methods.

Go to the store.

You have been shredded up into little pieces and reformed into a new product using heat, water, air, or other methods.

Go to the store.

You have been shredded up into little pieces and reformed into a new product using heat, water, air, or other methods.

Go to the store.

You were sitting on the shelf when a shopper walked by and decided to buy the same product with less packaging to reduce waste.

Stay at the store.

You were sitting on the shelf when a shopper walked by and decided to buy the same product with less packaging to reduce waste.

Stay at the store.

A shopper put you in their shopping cart to buy. You will be taken to someone's home to be used!

Go to the consumer.

A shopper put you in their shopping cart to buy. You will be taken to someone's home to be used!

Go to the consumer.

A consumer used all of your contents, but thinks recycling is too hard so they put you in the garbage can.

Go to the trash can.

A consumer used all of your contents but doesn't know what is recyclable, so they put you in the garbage can.

Go to the trash can.

A consumer used all of your contents and no longer needs you, so they put you in their recycling bin.

Go to the recycling bin.

A consumer used all of your contents and no longer needs you, so they put you in their recycling bin.

Go to the recycling bin.

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

ROLL AGAIN!

