Hi Janie,

Here are photos of the current landscaping. We do not plan to remove much. The rose bushes in front of the house will be removed and the kennel will be about where the house is. We will plant a few green bushes in front on the kennel building to help camouflage the building. The building will extend toward the back of the property. We should not need to remove any trees in the back. It is possible that one or two trees may need to be removed toward the left side (south side) where the house is to ensure access around the entire building for both maintenance and to meet fire codes. Our intention is to try to only make necessary changes but to leave the landscape as similar as possible to what it currently is.

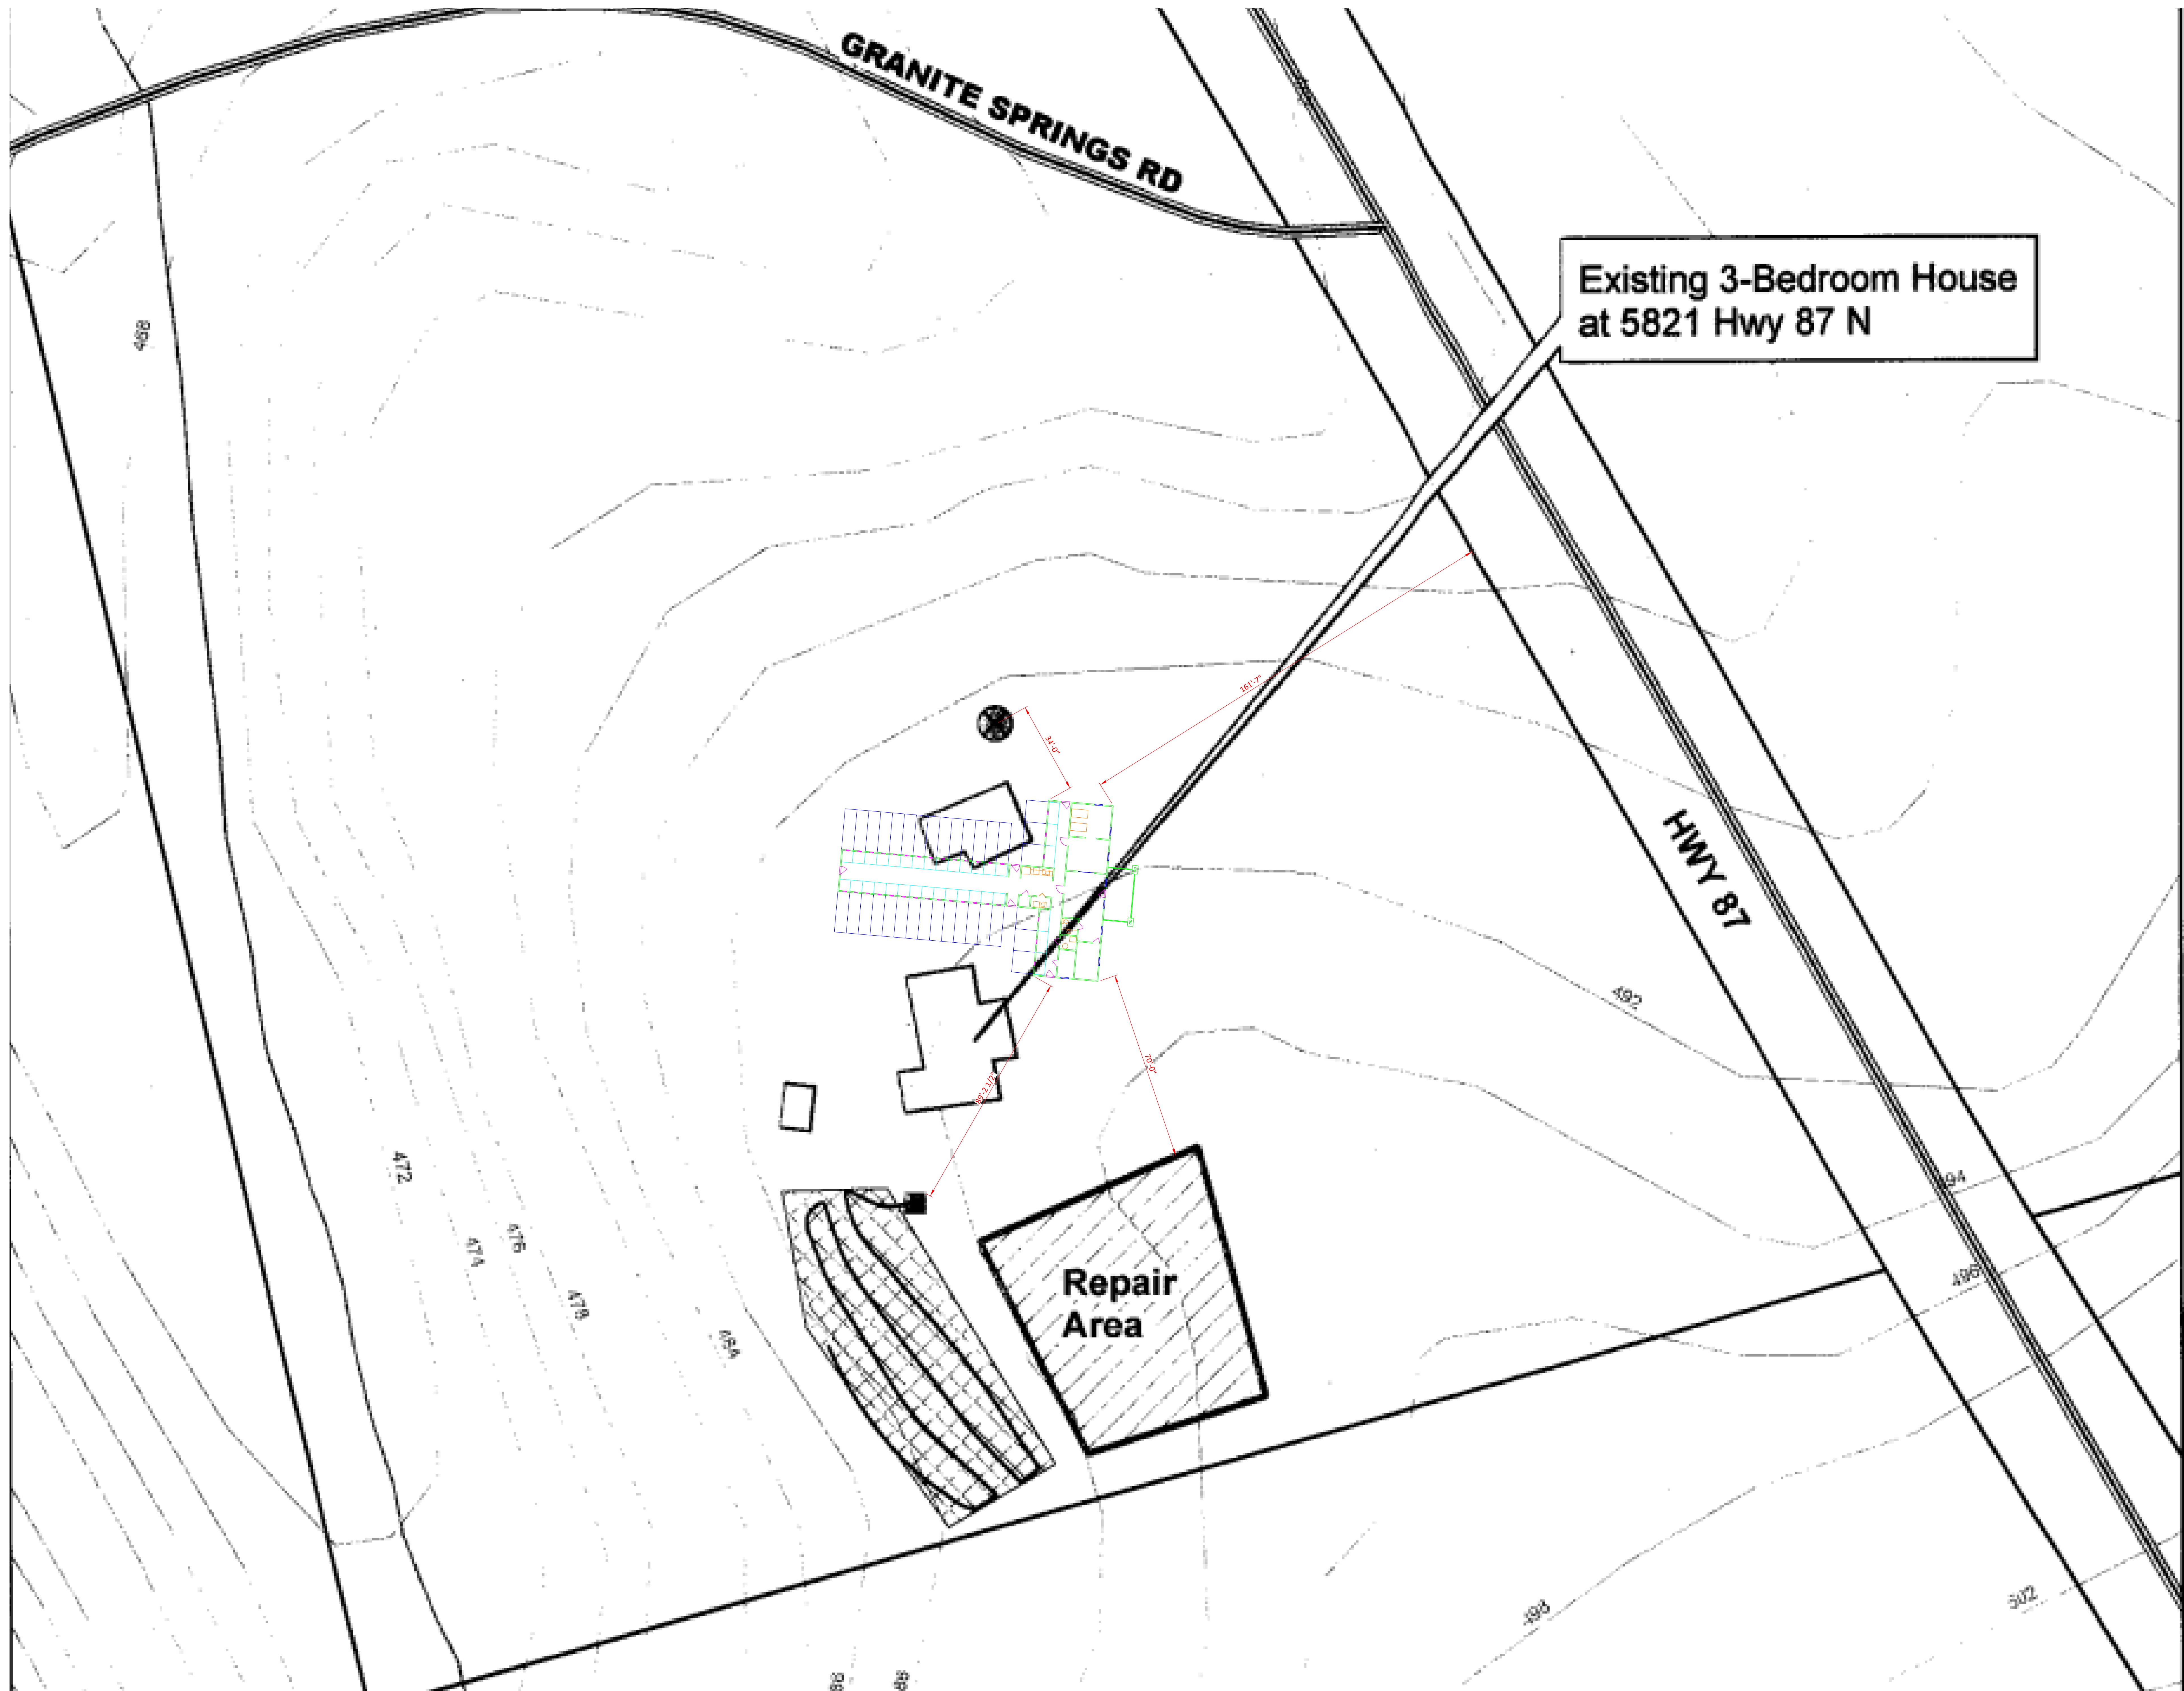

The parking lot area will be the area in front of where the house is located and currently has stones. We will most likely add some additional stone to give it a fresher look. The parking lot will have one concrete space located close to the building for handicap accessibility.

There will be a sign located close to the road next to the driveway that will meet code requirements.

We will install another pole light like the existing one behind the kennel building to illuminate the kennel runs. We will be sure that this light meets the code requirements. We will also have flood lights on the outside of the building to illuminate walk ways for the safety of clients and employees. These lights will also meet code regulations.

Please let me know if you also need me to look for an aerial view of the property or need to add anything else.

Thank you,
Jennifer
