HEALTH EDUCATORS WEEK A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Governor James B. Hunt, Jr has proclaimed February 16-22, 1997 as "HEALTH EDUCATORS WEEK" in North Carolina; and,

WHEREAS, Health Educators in Chatham County face increasing challenges to effectively and efficiently address such health problems as HIV/AIDS, Adolescent Pregnancy, Cancer, Heart Disease, Other Chronic Diseases and the lack of Physical Activity; and,

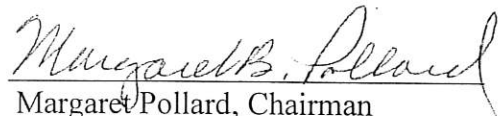

WHEREAS, in Chatham County, Public Health Educators work closely with residents to address health issues and concerns in a manner that assures programs and strategies employed meet the needs of the individual and community; and,

WHEREAS, Health Educators in Chatham County are active in prevention of disease and disability through community organizing, leadership development and the creation of opportunities for social support; and,

WHEREAS, health educators work in the Chatham County Health Department, in Chatham County Schools and in other public and private organizations in Chatham County. Their contributions help make our county a better place to live and work;

NOW, THEREFORE, We the Board of Commissioners, Chatham County, North Carolina, do hereby proclaim February 16-21, 1997, as "HEALTH EDUCATORS WEEK" in Chatham County, and urge all citizens to recognize the importance of these professionals in promoting the well-being of our citizens.

Adopted this, the 17th day of February 1997.

Margaret Pollard, Chairman
Chatham County Board of Commissioners
